Local Men Honored For Blood Donations

Exactly 122 of the faithful appeared at the blood donor clinic held in Didsbury on Tuesday — the quota previously set was 140. Holidays and bad roads were blamed for the shortage, but town residents put up a poor show. The ones from the country were on hand and let the blood drip all the way.

Lone Pine W.I. must be commended for the very fine serving they were in charge of. Daisy Mae (that McCoo gal) took over the lunch stand, as she has done for every clinic held here since the deal was started; the names of the others who have served every time around for the past 10 or 15 years are too numerous to mention. However, their work has not gone unnoticed.

There are a couple of fellows who aren't boasting about their achievement but on Tuesday Mr. Art Reiber and Mr. Tom Morris were presented with scrolls by Mrs. A. J. Allen, honoring the fact that their blood had passed through the tube on 20 different occasions. Were we all as consistent in this endeavor there would be no shortage of the bottled life-saver.

FISH & GAME ASSOC. HAVE DEALS FOR SALE

Take a look in Campbell's Store and check over the 32-piece set of game bird dishes that are on display. How can you have 'em? Just buy a ticket from any member of the gaming group, if you haven't already got one, and you'll be eligible to get in on the potter.

Fish Derby: This is the way it's going now: one 3 lb., 2 oz. trout is high in the men's class, for the juniors it's a 1 lb., 14 oz. trout.

Predator Results: Ken McCoy reports that 2200 pair of crows and magpie flocks have been turned in.

Bingo! It's All Over For Now

"Darn it! I just had a couple to go!" That was just about the phrase used by a number of players taking part in the Lions Club holiday bingo which came to an abrupt end this week.

Yes, Claire Crosby, who cracks the whip on a farm west of Didsbury, blacked out his card on last Saturday's draw and stands a good chance to collect the $250 cash prize. The only thing that can stop him is for someone else to come up with a covered card — if you have one follow the instructions on the back of your card — do it now or you'll be too late.

A laugh is worth a hundred groans in any market. — Charles Lamb

SHIP TO LAY 1300 MILES OF CABLE

Telephone cables between London and Montreal or Toronto as clear as local ones came a step nearer Monday when the British cable ship Monarch sailed from London to lay 1300 miles of a second trans-Atlantic telephone cable.

The Monarch will let out the cable across the Atlantic bottom in the deep sea portion of the link between Clarendville, Nfld., and Olan, Scotland. The first cable between the two points, 2350 miles apart, was laid last year. Each cable carries a voice only one way.

When the link is completed this fall, for the first time trans-Atlantic calls can be made without the fading and squawking of present radio-telephone communications.

New Hospital Addition . . . Is It Coming?

It's a comin', a vote to authorize the borrowing of money for an extension to our present hospital facilities.

Facts and figures, which we haven't got, the space or the time to give you right now, will appear in these columns long before you cast your ballot.

You're mind should be made up now, but there are those who will try and convince you just a little bit more (the writer is one of them). A few mills on your tax bill could save a life. Is it worth that much?

Frank Stevens' blood pressure went up a few notches when he called "bingo" at a game in Carstairs last week. The joust was for a new car. Frank already has one which was won at bingo.

However the saints took the other way — Frank was the tie-breaker and came home with a lovely floor lamp small consolation?

MEET AFTER FIFTY YEARS

Mrs. E. S. Brower went to Calgary last Saturday to meet her cousin, Mrs. Mildred Fowler, of Iowa Falls, Iowa who is on a round-trip tour through Canada to the west coast. From there she will leave for Texas and will return to her home in Iowa, stopping off to see relatives and friends enroute. Mrs. Brower and Mrs. Fowler hadn't seen each other in 50 years but their eyes were all they needed for recognition. They knew who was who!

Golf Notes . . .

Mrs. Harvey Gilrrie took the honor last week for the lowest score on the uneven holes. Fifteen ladies were entered in the competition.

This week the ladies are planning a tombstone competition on the local course. The planners have been busy and the following is the schedule that has been drawn for the coming week. On July 12 a hidden hole competition is planned and on July 19 the Callaway Handicap will be played. Please turn in the complete score for all nine holes for these competitions.

Cameron Wordie reached the finals in the Edmonton Riverside Golf tourney, hanging on until the 18th hole before being poked out by a former New Brunswick Willardon Cup player. Pretty fair shootin' in and league. Congrats!

Hail Suppression Again In The News . . .

SORRY, OR ARE WE? NO PAPER NEXT WEEK

Following the trend which a previous publisher established many years ago, we will not publish a paper next week. We don't know the fella' who made this a ritual, but we'll go along with him.

See you later!

BERGEN NOTES

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The annual picnic was held on Thursday, June 28. The weather, man co-operated in sending the showers elsewhere for the day, so that young and old enjoyed the day thoroughly. Thanks to Mrs. Irene Halvorsen who piloted the children through another year. She also taught many of the fathers and mothers present.

The Ladies Aid held at the home of Mrs. Ross Ellis was on Wednesday. It was held one day early so as not to conflict with the picnic.

Wednesday, July 4 was set for cemetery day which had previously been postponed because of rain.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Clark and Sharon plan to leave July 1st for South Carolina where they will visit with their daughter and family. They are travelling by train.

Get well wishes are extended to Joe Erickson who is a patient in the Didsbury hospital and also to Miss Mildred Olsen who found it necessary to return to the Sen at Calgary.

Jimmy Haug left Sunday for Spray Lakes where he will saw for Mjola-tess Bros. for the summer. Mrs. Haug and the children will follow in a week's time.

P. A. Blains and L. Connors are each in the process of building new houses while the Davidsons have laid the foundation for a new barn.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE . . .

Any housewife will tell you the most difficult meal for her to set is breakfast in bed.

There hasn't been much publicity but it has been learned, a concentrated canvas is being made in an effort to put hail suppression plans into operation in the "hail belt," which is called home around these parts.

Voluntary helpers are working around the clock and at present $502 had been collected in an area 12 miles wide around Didsbury. Three Hills are also on the move and report collections of approximately $4000.

Only 25% of the area has been covered here by the canvassers and about 20% in the eastern district. One full township took the oath and donated their share heretofore.

It is expected that by today (Thursday) it will be known if the project will go into force this year. Should the necessary funds be raised, generators will be available to start the experiment within seven days.

THE AWKWARD AGE

"How old are you, Bobby?" asked the visitor.

"Oh, I'm just at that awkward age."

"Really," said the visitor, "and just what do you consider the awkward age?"

"Well," said Bobby, "I'm too old to cry and too young to cuss."

AIRLINERS CRASHED IN MID-AIR

GRAND CANYON, ARIZ. — Investigators found Tuesday what they termed "positive" evidence that a collision in flight preceded the crash of two giant airliners which killed 128 in commercial aviation's worst disaster.

Capt. Byrd Ryland, leader of a search and rescue team, said blue paint scratches were discovered on metal torn from a Trans-West Airlines Superconstellation.

The constellation, carrying 70 persons, and a United Air Lines DC-7 with 58 aboard crashed into Grand Canyon Buttes less than a mile apart Saturday on flights eastward from Los Angeles.

Ryland said the scratches are "positive" identifications of collision in flight.

Wreckage was strewn over a 10-mile stretch of jagged, rocky canyon cliffs which constitute perhaps the most inaccessible terrain in the United States.

They Made It, 25 Years Yet

Twenty-five of 'em, all in-laws, sat down to a noon know what we'll say (fine dinner last Sunday, July 1, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morris, who were starting out on their 26th year of wedded bliss.

To say it was all bliss would be exaggerating a mite, they took a lot of bumps along the trail but they hung together all the way.

Ken Morris, son of the honored couple, just returning from a honeymoon with his new bride, acted as master of ceremonies. Mr. Tom Deuch gave the toast to the bride.

Later in the day over 80 signed the guest book at an "open house" affair which was marred by only one factor — somebody missed picking up his hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris haven't said so but we know they must have been more than happy visiting with friends, old and new, last Sunday. They'll remember it and expect to see many of the same faces when they celebrate their 50th.

SHOULD WE WASH 'EM?

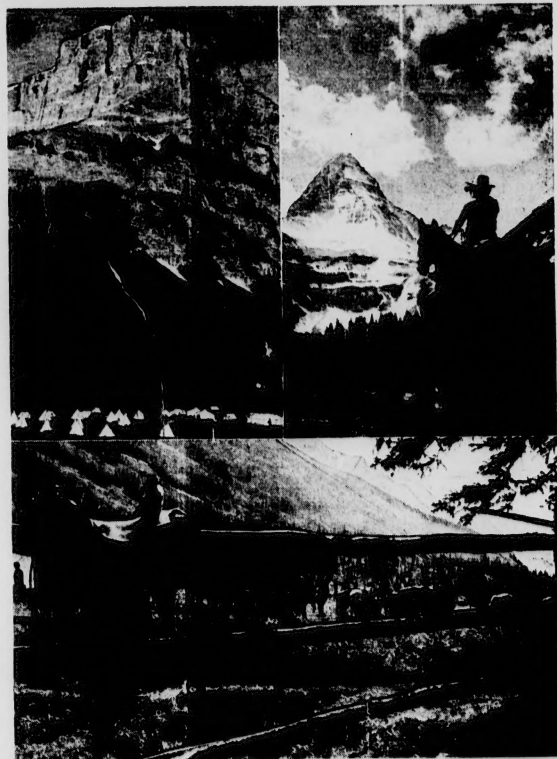

The hardest thing to get a child to do is anything that grownups say is good for him. So the British doctors' report that hot baths have no value may make cleanliness as popular as comic books.

Trail Riders, Holiday In Rockies:

The majestic beauty of snow-capped mountain peaks . . . the exhilarating thrill of camping in the Canadian Rockies . . . the panorama of azure blue lakes and alpine scenery — all this awaits the trail riders of the Canadian Rockies. This summer, the organization's mountain holiday includes a five-day ride, from July 13 to July 17, and a six-day ride, from July 20 to July 25. Opportunities for photography, fishing, trail riding, and nature study are plentiful during the day's excursions. In the evenings, sing-songs and other campfire entertainments are restful and relaxing preludes to a night's sleep under the stars. In the upper left photo is a trail rider base camp, set at the foot of a towering mountain. Upper right shows a trail rider admiring the wonderful alpine scenery of the Rockies. Bottom up in the crisp, cool morning air in preparation for the ride is a pleasant beginning to a holiday.

LIGHT YOUR WAY WITH BIBLE STUDY

The secret of successful living does not consist, as some would lead us to believe, in "knowing all the answers." Now it is to be found in the latest book of applied psychology.

Those who are living the most successful lives today are the men and women, who have come to St. Paul's conviction: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

The man who found forgiveness for his sins through faith in Christ is the man who can start every morning with a clean slate. In sickness or calamity, as well as in health and prosperity, he is in touch with the source of power which continues to defy human analysis. Jesus tells every believer: "He that abideth in Me and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit."

The successful life is in the life that is lived "in Christ."

REV. T. J. STANTON, M.A.

"WHAT WE THROW AWAY"

The town Rabbi came up the street leading Pat's dog. He said, "Pat you owe me money. This animal broke into the Tabernacle and ate three books." "Oh!" said Pat, "If he has gone and changed his way of living I do not want him. Throw him away."

There are many things, besides sermons and newspaper articles that are just used once and then thrown away. At a picnic someone had a new gadget on which to roast weiners. A friend asked "What do you do with it when it burns out?" "Throw it away," was the reply. There are many things made and labeled, "Use once and throw away." We may enjoy a three course banquet and wash no dishes. We can buy tableware, cups, plates, forks, spoons, as well as table cloths, towels, napkins and clothes to wear at the banquet, all made to be used once and thrown away.

It has been suggested that we should make cars that way, and thus get rid of our parking difficulties. We would need first to create a better disposal system. To where would we throw them? Rubbish is plentiful now.

Disposing of things may mean progress and it may mean waste. A soldier who was for some time with the occupation forces in Japan, described how villages sprang up around the army dump. They found a quantity of food, but they found things of commercial value, such as wood, tin, wire, cardboard, etc. These they made into children's toys and other saleable articles, which they sold on the markets of the world. Here you have both waste and progress. This is happening in many fields of industry. Fortunes have been, and still are being made out of by-products, things thrown away.

Since "Life is more than food and body more than clothes," man has other values that are not of the material order. These are not by-products and when they are thrown away man suffers an irreparable loss.

We want freedom, meaning mostly we are like spoiled children wanting our own way. And in going our own way we so often throw away those moral and spiritual values, which enable people to become free and fit them to enjoy their freedom. "Thou shalt know the truth and the truth shall make you free." Each day can only be lived once. Then to enjoy freedom we must follow truth. Every false conception of freedom, when acted upon, plunges the body, mind and spirit into prisons such as God's grace only can free us from.

Honor is a sacred trust; we can never afford to throw honor away. Without honor there can be no freedom. In Scotland many years ago, they used no bonds nor receipts. They believed that a person who would not honor his word, and keep his deals without being bound by writings, could not be trusted at all. Honor protects the weak, cares for the innocent, and stands guard over

Traffic Isn't The Only Weekend Hazard

PROTEST NOW

Now's the time to vigorously protest with united voice against the proposal voiced by Hon. E. W. Hume, provincial treasurer, to impose a two percent sales tax. Hidden taxes on many of the things we buy, pins, cigarettes, automobiles, etc., amount to from 25 percent to 50 percent of their cost to the ultimate buyer, while on liquor the tax (federal and provincial) amounts to at least 300 per cent of its production and distribution cost. Every time a new tax is imposed more government employees are needed to collect it, and once applied, it stays. Canadians are the most heavily taxed people in the world in the form of hidden taxes, and we even pay tax on the tax in the mark-up of goods.

— The Fort Macleod Gazette

purity and virtue. Without honor life becomes confusion and distress with less order than the jungle. On a railway train two people were discussing the relation of faith to upward climb of society. One said "I do not see that faith is so important it can be thrown away at times" just then the conductor took the tickets. "Did you see?" said the other "how the conductor valued those tickets?" A ticket to him is an expression of faith and entitles the holder to complete his journey without question.

Faith is that which enables the traveller on life's highway to proceed steadily onward, until all waste of life's best has been eliminated, and all high fellowships, human relations and personal experiences, have culminated in a completeness of being that reflects credibly the divine purpose in life. One question more: what are we using, and what are we throwing away?

"There's a wideness in God's mercy Like the wideness of the sea. There's a kindness in His justice Which is more than liberty." For the love of God is broader Than the measure of man's mind; And the heart of the eternal Is most wonderfully kind."

CREMONA NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Intended For Last Week. The United Church basement was a busy place last Friday, June 22. The W.A. were well supported at the strawberry festival. The net proceeds were well over $100.

Funeral service for the late Squire Jackson was conducted by Rev. Masee at the Cremona United Church on Monday, June 18. Mr. Jackson donated the timbers for the beams in the church. Interment was made in Cremona cemetery.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. V. Umlich on the birth of a son and to Mr. and Mrs. B. May, also on the birth of a son.

C.G.I.T. has disbanded for the summer. Some of the girls are going to camp though. They had a candy table at the strawberry festival and cleared $12. The girls would like to say thank you to all the folks who helped and supported them throughout the year.

Cremona is a busy place these days. Mr. Charles Reid and Mr. L. Sanderman are making progress on their respective houses. The shingles are being put on the hotel and the pile of pipe is gradually being hauled out of town.

This week will see the end of another school year. A special thank you is extended to all the school teachers who have worked so faithfully with our children. We do appreciate their efforts, though we seldom say so.

Mrs. George Witlow hurried home from the festival on Friday because she had company coming — from England.

GIVES OTHERS A HAND

Greatness is in the kindness, understanding, courage, faith, compassion and desire to aid others that lie within a man's heart and in the way that he uses these qualifications in all his relations with other persons. — Gwyndolyn Smith

WHO KNEW?

Saturday's thunderstorm, which brought nothing here but wind and lightning, caused no serious damage. However one farm owner, who lives west of town, reports the electrical wizard who handles the controls, took a poke at one of the lightning rods on his house and managed to shake things up a bit.

Those who were watching TV noticed how sets were affected. Now we're told you shouldn't have been watching. Turn 'em off when the lightning starts.

Ramblin' and Roamin'

Thru' The Grapevine . . . we learn that a few of our subscribers from outside points are beelin' a bit about weather, crop and scandal situations not appearing in each issue week by week. The first two queries can be answered easily: it's raining now and the crops are in fine shape — no hail — keep your fingers crossed! The third question: We don't print a scandal sheet. Any more beefs? Let's hear them.

The Situation Hasn't Changed . . . It is now one year plus 44 days since the guided missile regarding the road surfacing program landed in our midst. Turn the battery on Mr. Taylor, we're whistling in your direction.

Life Of One Goller . . . and his dog. The golfer hasn't hit below 40 yet; the dog, supposedly a hunter, has failed to come up with even one lost ball. He's tangled with a porcupine on the course, he scared the livin' daylight out of a jack rabbit up there one day, he chased a calf through a three-wire fence — still he can't find a lost pellet. Guess he's like his master — he'll never be a golfer. (The dog is black and the other guy is green, very green!)

Yes, It's True . . . Asked what was the best advice ever given him, General Mark Clark replied: "To marry the girl I did."

And who gave you that advice? he was then asked.

Replied the General, "She did."

WEDDINGS

SNARR - NEUFELD
A very impressive afternoon wedding was solemnized in the Acme Anglican Church on Monday, June 25, when Bette Louise Neufeld, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Neufeld of Acme became the bride of Mr. Sidney Robert Snarr, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Snarr of Toronto.

The ceremony took place at 1 p.m. with Rev. Roberts of Carbon officiating. The traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Hughie McCulloch of Acme.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, gowned in a blue boucle dress and wearing a fingertip veil and pearl headpiece, carrying a white bible and white roses.

Mrs. Donald Sunberg of Calgary was her sisters' matron of honor, wearing a navy blue crepe dress and red roses. The mother of the bride was dressed in a navy blue taffeta with white accessories and white roses.

The best man was the brother of the bride, Mr. Norman Neufeld of Acme.

After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the brides parents with 40 guests attending. A three-tiered wedding cake centred the table with red and yellow roses.

The happy couple left for a honeymoon to Banff by motor. They will later journey to Vancouver where they will make their home.

EDDY MUST HAVE BEEN A LITTLE BIT SLOW

When Eddie, the slow moving and inefficient clerk in a small town store, was not in evidence one morning, a customer asked, "Where is Eddie? He ain't sick, is he?"

"Nope, he ain't," replied the proprietor. "He just ain't workin' here no more."

"That so?" responded the villager. "Got anybody in mind for the vacancy?"

"Nope, Eddie didn't leave no vacancy."

Hard To Control . . .

We are not alone in our realization that it is next to impossible to control the liquor traffic. Take Alberta alone, the profit from government sales of liquor in 1965 were greater than the sum total of provincial revenues in 1935. This is not all due to the changed economic position of the people. At the same time, the federal government also took off a net profit from the Alberta liquor traffic of nearly seventeen millions of dollars, just slightly less than Alberta made for herself after handling all the business details.

At the same time, operators of many beer parlors make more money than any legitimate business with a like investment. In other words, a man who wants to get into that type of business can select a business spot, call it a hotel, then start in coinling profits. There is no skill or special training involved.

It is this easy money racket that rankles in the minds of many observers and opponents to the traffic. At the same time, it is recognized by most straight thinking people that the public is going to demand access to alcoholic beverages. The problem that confronts administrators at the present time is where the liquor is making unlawful inroads into the lives of teen-agers. We doubt if the authorities could enforce enough police to check this modern tragedy. We can see no hope for the situation to be helped by the introduction of anti-alcoholic education in the school. This is strictly a parental problem.

As we told one of the committee-men here this week not before the sittings, but privately, we still think that the Liquor Control Board could relax its rules and give the public a little less distilled water and a little more whiskey for its money. This is one of the rawest commercial deals our legislative bodies have imposed upon us and it is effective all across Canada.

Who's Foolish?

Corra: "I hear you have accepted Joe. Did he happen to mention that he had proposed to me first?"
Laura: "Not specifically. He did say he had done a lot of foolish things before he met me."

Notes From D.A.

By Howard J. Fisher

There are a few specialized poultry plants in Alberta, but the bulk of our eggs are produced from small flocks on the farm. Collectively these flocks make up a big business producing many dozens of eggs and many pounds of meat.

Many of these flocks are not as well managed as could be desired. In many cases it is due to lack of proper information as to feeding, culling and housing of poultry. Egg quality could be greatly increased and the cost of production decreased with better management practices.

There is a need for more information to those raising poultry either large flocks or just a few hens for home use. On Thursday, July 12 a poultry field day will be held at the Olds School of Agriculture. The program will start at 1:00 o'clock and will cover such features as feeding practices, egg quality, culling of

TO THE WRECKERS

In the last three years, Canadians have scrapped 338,000 automobiles, reports the Financial Post.

That's almost as many as the 349,000 they junked in the seven years 1946-1952 inclusive.

The high rate of scrapage is one of the reasons for high 1958-59 new car sales. Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce estimates about 37% of all cars and trucks produced in Canada last year were needed to replace vehicles which ended on the scrap heap.

poultry as well as other interesting items.

The program will be so designed as to be illustrative and informative to all poultry raisers. Poultry specialists will be in attendance to discuss various problems and answer any questions which arise.

This field day is arranged by the Department of Agriculture, poultry branch and this office, with assistance from the Olds Hatchery and the Morris Hatchery and should be very interesting to all poultry producers.

Poultry men and all farmers are invited to attend.

BUCKBRUSH IN PASTURE: Dur-the past week it was my privilege to inspect some pasture land that had been sprayed with 2-4-D three years ago in an effort to kill buck brush.
At that time we were not sure how heavy an application rate to use but we started out with 2 pounds 2-4-D acid per acre with about 10 gallons water. We also used 1 gallon diesel fuel with every 20 gallons water.

The results now after three years are nothing short of miraculous.
Buck brush has been completely eliminated, there is no regrowth and the grass has come back in the areas where there was nothing but buck brush heretofore.

The dried up buck brush has been trampled down by cattle until today there is a first class grazing pasture for cattle capable of carrying for more head of stock than previously. I repeat, you would almost have to see this transformation to believe that it could actually take place with the mere application of 2-4-D. If small willow or buck brush is a problem to you it would pay you to investigate the possibility of re-juvenating your pasture with a heavy application of 2-4-D, the miracle working chemical.

Have You Heard It?

SORRY, WRONG NUMBER

Only silence met the switchboard operator's repeated response of "City Hall" . . . then, for the last time she announced, "City Hall?"
whom do you wish to speak?"

A faltering voice finally answered:
"I guess with no one — I found this number in my husband's pocket."

HE'S LOST

An Easterner was being driven by a rancher over a blistering and almost barren stretch of West Texas when a sandy bird, new to him, scurried in front of them.

The Easterner asked what it was.
Rancher: "That is a Bird of Paradise."

The stranger rode on in silence for a time, then said: "Pretty long way from home, isn't he?"

EASY OUT

You look all in, today, George.
What's the trouble?
"Well, I didn't get home until after daylight, and as I was just undressing to go to bed when my wife woke up and said: "Aren't you getting up a bit early, George? So in order to avoid an argument, I just put my clothes on and came on down to work."

ONE WING; WHICH WAY

Two men followed a woman driver.
"She got her hand out the window."
remarked one of the men. "What does that mean?"

"Only one thing for sure," replied the other. "The window is open."

TELL ME SOMETHING NEW

Golf Pro: "Now just go through the motions without hitting the ball." Beginner: "That's precisely the trouble I'm trying to overcome."

A Matter
Of Right

British old age pensions follow the pensioners to the ends of the earth and the end of his days. If he migrates at age 65 to Tasmania, Peru or the Yukon, the cheques continue to flow and don't stop until the death certificate is issued.

Canadian old age pensions should be payable in the same way because they too are now based on the principle of contribution.

Most old age pensioners, one may hope, will choose to spend their evening years and their $40 a month in this country. But those who want to move back to Tobemorey, Omaha or even Warsaw, for health, family or sentimental reasons should have at that account. They have paid their subscription.

Reason For Doubt . . .

The young paratrooper had been well schooled that his parachute was practically infallible. He was constantly reminded that if the first rip-cord did not work, he was to pull the second one. This thought became second nature with him.

On the day of his first jump, he was told that when he landed he would be several miles away from his base, but that it was his duty as a good paratrooper to manage for himself; that if he was clever he would be able to find a bicycle near where he landed, on which he could ride back to camp.

He jumped, pulled the first rip-cord. Nothing happened! He remembered well his training, and immediately pulled the second rip-cord.
Still nothing happened.
Dejectedly he said to himself: "I'll bet that bicycle won't be waiting for be down there, either."

The Law Of Growth

The smallest and the greatest things in Nature obey the "Law of Growth."
A tree grows upwards singing out its sermon of growth — an inspiration for all mankind. And, when the fruit ripens, it drops to the earth and seeds to grow. A little later, the leaves fall. Because Nature herself knows no pause, she attaches a penalty on all inactivity. She senses, standstill minds and standstill muscles fast become flabby. Difficulty and strife in the soil in which strength and character best flourish.
A baby chick must break its way through the shell. This pecking away develops strength needed for survival and growth in the world ahead.

Destroy a spider's web as often as you will — he'll start at once to build another — stronger than before!
Work and growth are twins. We are the sum of all our endeavors. This message is inscribed on sand and stars like — it applies anywhere.

THE HAPPIEST PERSON

Have you ever tried to determine just who is the most contented individual you have ever met? The happiest? Just what standard of judgment would you follow in making this analysis? Would your candidate be the one who has the largest car, the most pretentious home, the highest-salaried position? We all know that the afore-mentioned possessions can bring only heartaches unless the "owner" has the right attitude towards life.

The person whose happiness is genuine is he who has a solid interest in his fellowmen. He takes the barbs from his tongue. He enters gladly in all altruistic movements.
He finds no place for envy in his heart. For him, life is not steel-

PUBLICITY MAJOR
NEWSPAPER SERVICE

Paper-by-paper issue-by-issue the Alberta Weekly Press is accomplishing a job of publicity for each community served of record proportions. Each of the publicity projects is adding an importance to life in the small centres, drawing the praise and admiration of the less fortunate in the big cities.

Nor is the advantage in publicity work with the weekly press. Through years of service they have found a recipe for publicity success beyond the realm of other edums. The service is one that will grow each year.

The weekly publisher realizes that in each "build-up or boost," he can give a recognized group in his community another step forward in community growth and success. He and his staff even with a little co-operation are capable of putting on a publicity drive for any worthy cause informing each member of the community completely.

Leaders in the weekly newspaper field in the past several years have added extra force to publicity by publishing the most important press releases from their neighbor weeklies.

IMPORTANT TASK

The Dominion census undertaken this month is an important government-instituted task that will require the full support of all Canadians. This is an "off-year" tabulation of facts and figures that falls between the recognized decennial census of 1951 and 1961.

Canada is now growing so rapidly and changing so much that the government considers a five-year census necessary. To provide accurate figures for intelligent forecasting and planning. Ten-year census figures, it is felt, become outdated in a short time because of the movement of people between provinces and development and growth of new urban areas.

This year's census will be less detailed than the one taken five years ago. It will cover only population and agriculture. It will not delve into employment and earnings, nor into population characteristics such as birthplace and education, housing, services, etc.

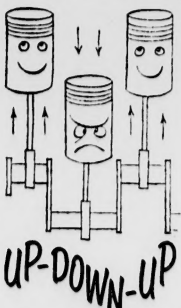

The questions on agriculture will have special significance in a farming area like central Alberta. Information received about feed costs, machinery, crops, etc., will supply the government with valuable data about the latest trends in this important Canadian industry.

It will be interesting, too, to check Alberta's population gains. This province became the fourth in the Dominion to pass the million mark after Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia. An official count at this time reveals just how quickly this oil-rich province is continuing to forge ahead.

Aluminum helped today's high-speed, high-compression crank engine get that way. Aluminum pistons brought not only toughness but lightness to the up-and-down job. Less weight meant less inertia and so made possible higher engine revolutions. It brought heat conductivity, too—so your engine doesn't over-heat when you drive fast and far.

It started in the twenties—and today every car produced in North America is equipped with aluminum pistons. And much of the aluminum comes from Canadian smelters. To match the needs of the automotive, aircraft, construction and many other industries for large quantities of aluminum, Alcan is again stepping up its already enormous smelting capacity.

country can see many projects and developments that are of benefit to us, we are also reminded of our pledge to assist other nations.

For example, on the plains of Alberta and Saskatchewan there is a constant urging for more irrigation and power development. Various reasons are advanced as to why a "go slow" policy is apparent. Yet in the distant country of Pakistan the Canadian government is contributing $50,000,000 towards the Warsak power and irrigation dam, near the famous Khyber pass. It is part of Canada's commitments under the Colombo plan.

The helping hand is a very material gesture. It represents the financial assistance of Canadian people and at the same time a sacrifice of those things which we advocate and need in our own country.

Letter To The Editor

HOPE IT DOESN'T HAPPEN HERE

Following is a letter which appeared in last week's issue of the Olds Gazette. We feel it will be of interest to town people contemplating gas installation we quote:

"I would like some space in your paper to lodge a complaint in regard to the activities of Canadian Western Natural Gas Co. in Olds. Firstly, one of their men intimidated to my wife, when the crew installing services was ready to work on our street, that it really didn't matter where we wanted the service entrance, because the company would put it where they wanted."

Then our service entrance was dug, a hole blasted through our basement wall and a token job of patching was done. The ditch was left open for nearly a week and now that it is filled in, it is a disgrace. It's nothing but a mile of clay in huge clods. Not far away, I have a neighbor whose ditch was filled in the same day and his lawn had a big scar.

Not only do we have to put up with this inconvenience, but mud and dirt from the alley ditch has even pushed out to our back yard and we have had to pick up our garbage can no less than three times. On top of that, the alley was in such a mess that we haven't had any garbage collection for three weeks.

We voice our objections in your column because among promises made by the company were that there would be as little inconvenience as possible and that the service entrance ditches would be put

INFLATION TAX TAKES ITS TOLL

Ever stop to figure out how much everyone pays in "inflation tax"? "Inflation tax" is a fairly accurate way to describe the shrinkage in the purchasing power of the dollar. It is the kind of tax which is imposed, at the same rate, on the savings of rich and poor alike.

The First National City Bank of NY, in its Monthly Letter for May, has worked out an interesting table to show what "inflation tax" does to people's savings. Suppose, for example, that someone bought a US Savings Bond in 1941 for $75. The bond, at maturity, in 1951, would have been worth $100. Income tax on the interest over the 10-year period, at the lowest personal income tax rate, would have been 75.10. So the maturity value of the bond less income tax would have been $24.90.

The "inflation tax," however, over the same 10-year period, would come to $41.13. Deduct this sum from the maturity value of the bond less income tax, and the real value of the bond when it was redeemed in 1951, in terms of the purchasing power of the 1941 dollar, comes to only $53.77. Since the purchaser paid $75 for the bond in 1941, he has actually lost $21.23 on his original investment.

Whether the dollars are American or Canadian, "inflation tax" takes its hidden toll. Few people realize how much "inflation tax" they really pay.

back in good shape. It's absolutely no wonder that Olds home-owners are in no hurry to have gas-fitters work in their homes after seeing the mess left behind by the Gas Company. (Publius)"

PRESIDENT OF CFA DISCUSSES MARKETING BOARDS

H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, states that marketing boards are not a substitute for co-operatives but are designed to complement co-operatives and achieve an objective beyond which co-operatives can hope to reach.

He claims criticisms of co-operatives is pretty much a thing of the past, because of the realization of what they have been able to do in orderly marketing and the improvement of quality. The public, however, is not yet reconciled to the technique of marketing boards, fearing the idea of control over the individual and the possibility of exploitation of the consumer.

Mr. Hannam thinks that the latter fear is groundless and that stabilized prices and improvement of quality would be a benefit to the consumer. In the matter of controls, Mr. Hannam says total control of a product is necessary for an effective job of orderly marketing. Any marketing board must have the support of an overwhelming majority of producers and the controls which they are prepared to accept to establish better marketing cannot be a serious detriment to the minority. Mr. Hannam's argument is logical and sound. Agriculture has been handicapped too long by over solicitude for inconsequential rights of the individual which have no real value to him and yet are a stumbling block to the welfare of the industry. No law or control which we have meets with the approval of everyone yet thousands are enforced for the general good. Organized industry has long since discarded unreasonable individualism and regulates itself for the greatest over-all advantage. Its people are prospering out of all proportions to the freedom-prone farmers. The basic rights of freedom and liberty can be lost more quickly by the abuse of minority rights than the acceptance of reasonable rules of discipline.

SHEETS - CLARKE

Spring flowers beautifully decorated Knox United Church in Didsbury for the recent wedding which united in marriage Miss Gwendolyn Klorien Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clarke, Didsbury and Mr. Lloyd Andy Sheets, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sheets of Okotoks. Rev. T. J. Stainton officiated at the late afternoon double ring ceremony.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a floor length gown of embroidered lace and nylon tulle veiled over bridal satin, designed in strapless mode, featuring a bouffant skirt with scallops gathered with pearls. The dainty lace jacket was fashioned with a Peter Pan collar trimmed with mother of pearl sequins and pearls. Her fingertip veil misted from a tiara of mother of pearl sequins and pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses, stephanotis and fern. Her only jewelry was a mother of pearl earrings, gift of the groom.

Attending the bride, Miss Dolores Haderer, Calgary, as maid of honor, Miss Marilyn Nuss of Didsbury and Miss Doreen Anderson of Camrose as her bridesmaids, wore identical waist length gowns of pale blue eyelet embroidered nylon over taffeta, featuring a high empire waistline, scalloped short sleeves and neckline accented with blue rhinestone necklaces and earrings, gifts of the bride. They wore matching blue nylon headresses and carried bouquets of white carnations.

Mr. Don Sheets, brother of the groom, was best man and the guests were ushered by Mr. Lyle Sheets and Mr. Russell Sheets.

Mrs. Harvey Stevens, organist, accompanied the soloist, Miss Bonnie Clarke who sang "Because" before the ceremony and "Through the Years" during the signing of the register.

Mr. Thomas Clarke, uncle of the bride, proposed the bridal toast at the reception in the church basement to which the groom very ably responded.

For going away the bride donned a charcoal suit complemented with white accessories and an orchid and red rose corsage.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip to the mountains Mr. and Mrs. Sheets will reside at Camrose.

COUPLE CELEBRATE SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Goetjen were hosts on Saturday night last to a large group of relatives and friends in honor of the former's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Goetjen of the Jackson district, who celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on June 30th.

The surprise evening was spent at playing games, singing and a mock trial, with Mr. Herbert Goetjen acting as the judge, providing much merriment, especially when he passed sentence that they continue this bondage for another 25 years. Mrs. H. Goetjen, the soloist 25 years before, and her accompanist, Miss Florence Artman, favored the group with the same selection, "The Voice That Breathed Over Eden," as had been sung at the wedding ceremony.

The gathering then sat down to a very dainty lunch, head table beautifully decorated with roses and tall tapers and in the centre was a lovely three-tiered anniversary cake. During the luncheon hear a bit of reminiscence took place - even to the rain, it had rained that day 25 years ago too.

The honored guests were then asked to cut the cake following which they were presented with a beautiful glass-inlaid-in-silver tray from the group, for which both thanked all present.

The younger fry were entertained by the host setting off rockets (fireworks). Need we say, the oldsters were getting a kick out of it too.

Bob Sweikert, 30, of Indianapolis, winner of the 500-mile classic last year, was killed recently when the car in which he was driving during a sprint race in Salem, Ind., leaped over a guard rail. Two spectators watch the car spinning in the air following the mishap.
